

Va. Bone Dry Oath Revived In the House

session, no bill with unanimous consent previously obtained, shall be introduced in either house after Monday, February 18, 1924, but this resolution shall not be construed to apply to any bills affecting the public finance or any bill of a purely local nature.

Despite the efforts of leaders, debate on the schedule of equalization of tax assessments, plottage, appropriations and revenue measures are expected to wax vigorously.

"We feel, however, that if we check the debate for important subjects, one leader remarked, 'the calendars of the two houses will not become jammed even if discussion of important bills occupies more than the usual time'."

Passage by the assembly of the senate bill to protect co-operative marketing associations from "contract jumpers" today was termed "distinct victory" for co-operative marketing.

"It proves that the principle of co-operative marketing is accepted in all sections of the state," said a member of the assembly, "and where theory is judged on its merits" he said.

"Passage of the bill is a real triumph for the assembly," he said, "that the people who are trying to break down the organization, trying to get-fake loans on property are passing out."

After the bill was fought at the senate committee hearing in the house, it found its place on the house calendar and was sent out to passage without a hitch yesterday.

The governor is expected to sign the measure within the next several days.

PROPOSE BOND FOR HARBOR IMPROVEMENT

(By the Associated Press.)
RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 12.—Both resolutions designed to amend Virginia's constitution so that bonds may be issued for harbor improvements today were reported by the senate committee on courts of justice.

The same committee reported the Ozlin House measure to protect farmers from laborers that carry out contracts. The bill would make it a felony for a person to receive money or anything of value, with intent of committing fraud in connection with agreements to work on farms.

This bill is one of two measures proposed by the public to afford farm labor protection. The other was offered by Edward W. Laney, a legislator, providing that all agents soliciting labor in Virginia for use outside the state shall pay a license fee of $5,000. It passed the House yesterday and was reported to the senate.

The two resolutions to amend the constitution were offered by Senator Barron, Norfolk city, and several others in the senate last week. They are designed as steps in the direction of securing state aid for the development of Hampton Roads.

A bill, by Senator Garrett of Henry, providing that all prisoners in city and county jails shall be employed in highway work, also was approved by the committee. The measure provides that the judge having jurisdiction over such prisoners shall place them "on honor" to perform the duties assigned them, without guards. Violation of the "honor system" would result in a sentence of six months additional work under guards.

Delegate Smith of Alexandria, introduced the following bill relating to criminal libel:

"Be it enacted by the general assembly of Virginia that any publisher, editor, reporter or other person in connection with or waiting for any newspaper, magazine or other periodical, who publishes or causes to be published a malicious libel, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor or causes to be published a malicious libel, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or imprisonment in jail for a period not exceeding one year or by both such fine and imprisonment. In the case of a corporation, punishment shall be by fine, but the prosecution or conviction of any corporation shall in no wise effect the prosecution or conviction upon a charge arising out of the same published or caused to be published by any natural person who writes for or is employee of said corporation or who procures its publication of said libel."

Delegate Barker of Roanoke, introduced a bill amending the Highway laws so that the state highway commission shall maintain state roads running through towns of population of less than 3,000 population. The present law provides for maintenance in towns of less than 2,500.

A bill to limit the maximum compensation of county and city officials was offered by delegate DeLoach of Bristol.

Private detectives agencies would have to pay license tax of $250 on the provisions of a measure by Delegate Fletcher of Henrico, for the state tax board. Agencies with more than five detectives would be taxed $25 additional for each operative.

BILLS PASSED TODAY

(By the Associated Press.)

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 12.—Two bills of the commission on simplification and economy, one to abolish the office of second auditor and the other, the office of registrar of land, were passed by when reached on the Virginia Senate calendar today for advancement to third reading.

The bills would abolish the two offices, effective July 1, 1924. Senator Gunn, Henrico, chairman of the commission and author of the measures, will attempt to have them advanced when they again are reached on the calendar.

Both houses passed a resolution today Monday as the last day on which bills may be introduced except with unanimous permission.

The House passed a bill removing all exemptions from the motor fuel tax law. The vote was 67 to 20. House of Representatives of Accomack, and Milledge, of Newport News, led a vain fight to amend the bill so as to permit exemptions for motorboat owners.

State officials estimated that the passage of the bill will add $100,000 a year additional revenue to the treasury. The measure now goes to the Senate.

The Richmond delegation measure giving the city of Richmond an additional land and equity court was passed by the House. The vote was 67 to 4. The lower body also adopted the Ozlin bill giving the governor authority to designate a judge to sit in a circuit court during vacation for special hearings, and the Fain measure to prohibit fraudulent advertising. These measures now go to the Senate.

A bill giving the State Highway Commission permission to take over the York-town-Groveton Ferry, located near New port News, was favorably reported by the House Committee on roads and internal navigation. The ferry is now privately operated. The measure, which was sponsored by the Highway Commission, is general in its nature and will give the state authority to take over any ferry in the state.

Senator Barron, Norfolk city, introduced

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE URGES COTTON GROWING

Interest on the part of the Danville Chamber of Commerce in fostering the growing of cotton in the adjoining sections was manifested today when a bulletin prepared by Acting Secretary Henry B. Watkins was issued showing that the local organization as well as the Danville Fair Association are watching the development of cotton growing, and encouraging crop diversification. The statement issued this morning bearing on the advantage of growing cotton in this section as well as tobacco is as follows:

"Both the Chamber of Commerce and the Danville Fair association have kept in close touch with the highly successful experiment by many of the leading farmers of the southern portion of Pennsylvania county and the three bordering counties of North Carolina on the cultivation of cotton. First-hand information obtained from the farmers who have experimented in this cultivation indicates that our climate and soil are admirably suited to the successful cultivation of cotton. The results obtained, compared with cotton growing sections south of us, show a higher average yield per acre, and quality equal to or better than cotton grown in the southern states where it has been the money crop for a century or more.

"It has been demonstrated beyond question that cotton can be raised in this section profitably, as the prices obtained for cotton raised in Pennsylvania county during the past year compared favorably with the top prices for the same grade of cotton grown elsewhere. Under the circumstances, our farmers have the unusual opportunity of cultivating two profitable crops, tobacco and cotton, providing at least two baskets in which to put their eggs.

"Reliable statistics from the Federal Government show conclusively that sections of our country that have held to the one-crop idea continuously have not been prosperous. As an example, statistics show that one of duced a bill providing that juries in cases may recommend the degree of guilt and in capital trials may recommend mercy, which would require the judge to sentence the defendant to life imprisonment. The measure also gives judges authority to impose indeterminate sentences in criminal cases.

Senator Parson, Republican, Grayson, offered a measure creating a state board of chiropractic examiners.

A tax of $2 on each marriage license would be levied under terms of a bill introduced by Delegate Johnson of Wright.

Isaac Gibson, Culpeper, offered a constitutional amendment to provide for appointment of county clerks, superintendents of the poor and commissioners of revenue instead of by election of the people as at present.

A measure to provide for the re-education of clerks of courts of every honorably discharged veteran of the World War in Virginia was introduced by Delegate Wright, Roanoke city, and others.

STUDENT EXPLORES MYSTERIOUS GULCH IN FRENCH MOUNTAIN

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Some interesting and thrilling stories are told in connection with the feats of some of the unsuccessful candidates for the Grand Prize of the Académie des Sports, but they are overshadowed by the publicity given to the feat of the winner. The prize for 1923 recently awarded to Alain Gerbault, a noted tennis player, went to him only after a spirited debate of the jury, some of whose members favored Norbert Casteret, a student at the University of Toulouse.

The prize is awarded annually to the man or men accomplishing a sporting exploit in France by a French or foreigner, or abroad by a Frenchman alone, or abroad by a Frenchman alone, likely to result in a material, scientific or moral progress for humanity. Gerbault won the prize by making a trip across the Atlantic in a 30-foot sloop.

In the region of St. Mary, Dep. of the Haute Garonne, a brook enters the north side of a mountain 1,500 feet in altitude, runs through a gulch regarded as impenetrable, and emerges on the southern slope of the mountain. On August 23, 1923, Casteret, a strong swimmer and expert diver, decided to explore the brook. Before taking the leap into the unknown, Casteret made his will. Then armed only with candles, adequately protected from the water, to dispel the darkness of the subterranean cavern, the young student dived in.

The distance between the spot where the water disappears into the mountain to its outlet on the other side measures three-quarters of a mile. For three hours friends awaited in anxiety at the mouth of the grotto.

Suddenly, dripping with muddy water, dishevelled and haggard, but with the grim smile of victory on his features, the student was shot out of the mountain into the arms of his exuberant friends.

He told a remarkable story of courage and energy. Fighting against the current, swimming to the vacillating light of the candle, Casteret, in many places of the grotto, where the water met with a roof of stone, had to halt. Ignorant as to whether the brook, which in these spots assumed the appearance of a huge pipe completely filled with rushing water, would again after a few feet widen and the summer did open air above his head, he had to decide whether to turn back or of chance the long swim under water. He chose the latter.

In this grotto Casteret declared he discovered a wonderful prehistoric museum. Upon the walls of the cavern, engraved as if with sharp instruments or painted were mysterious characters. In a language which Casteret had never before seen or heard of, Statues of clay, some of them well preserved, depicted animals which have long since disappeared from the surface of Europe. Two of these, that of a bear and a tiger, which Casteret said must have dated at least as far back as 20,000 years, were so lifelike and well preserved, that he was of the opinion that the live animals had become petrified with the clay of the earth in the course of some cataclysm.

the southern States that has continued to adhere to the one-crop plan received in one year a little more than $100,000,000 for its one-crop crop, cotton, and spent $115,000,000 for meat, feed, flour and vegetables produced in other States that could under an intelligent system of diversified farming, have been produced in the cotton State. It is generally accepted as true that the business man who puts all of his eggs in the same basket in the long run is bound to lose, and what is true of the cotton planter and the one-crop system is just as true of the farmers in sections of the State that have pinned their faith to the cultivation of tobacco, carrying out the one-crop idea as it has been done in the cotton-producing sections.

Frequent inquiries are made at the Chamber of Commerce as to the possibility of securing sufficient ginning facilities for taking care of the cotton produced in this section. I am absolutely certain that the business interests of Danville, through the Chamber of Commerce can guarantee adequate facilities for ginning all cotton raised in this section provided the production will justify the expenditure. Already two gins are in operation, one at Dry Fork, Va., and one at Milton, N. C., and arrangements are being perfected for securing several other gins to be located where needed most, and as all commercial business in Danville is predicated, on successful farming, ample provisions will be made for taking care of the cotton produced in the counties around Danville.

"Owing to the ravages of the boll weevil in the Southern States a very large percentage of the acreage heretofore available for cotton production is being used for other purposes, thereby reducing the production of cotton below the world's actual consumption. Under these circumstances, the best guarantee of continued high prices for that staple, and will insure a reasonable profit to those of our farmers who hereafter will engage in the cultivation of cotton."

Will Not Ask Denby to Quit and Tells Why

First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, testified at today's committee session as to the financial arrangements and which Carl C. Magee and the Albuquerque, N. M. Morning Journal to Sidney M. Weil for $200,000 in May 1922.

Mr. Traynor said Weil deposited the agreement of sale with his bank on May 16, 1922, and that the bank then began to receive from bank over the country bonds of New Mexico Industrial Company, owning the Journal, and drafts in the sums specified in the agreement. A total of $21,820 with bonds attached was received from the first national bank of Tulsa. The Citizens Bank of Albuquerque sent for drafts with bonds attached in a total of $18,465. The national bank of Albuquerque sent in drafts and bonds for $21,369 and the first National Bank of Albuquerque sent in draft and bonds aggregating $18,236. Originally the First National Bank of Chicago, deposited $25,000 under the agreement, Traynor said.

The banker was unable to say why two citizens of Albuquerque went to Chicago to transact the sale. He said there was excellent banking facilities in the New Mexico town as well as in other cities closer to it than Chicago.

"Do you do business with the Standard Oil of Indiana?" asked Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana.

"Yes, both the First National and the First Trust," said the witness. He had expected that the First National and First Trust, were under the same ownership.

"You are really Chicago bank of the Standard Oil of Indiana," asked Senator Walsh.

"Yes sir," was the reply.

He added that he did not know the source of the funds paid to Magee for the Journal except that the First National Bank of Albuquerque. He added that he saw what indicated a fight between that bank and Magee and it was his supposition that the bank was buying the newspaper.

"Joshua Reynolds and his son-in-law, McNary, of El Paso, were the present owners of the First National's," he said.

"It is that McNary the president nominated as controller of the currency?"

"Yes."

CLAIM PRE-WAR MARRIAGES CAN NOT BE BROKEN

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

VIENNA, Feb. 11.—Pre-war marriages consummated under the old Catholic regime, not allowing divorces except with special dispensation of the Pope, cannot be legally broken up by civil law in Austria, according to a ruling of the high court, which raised the question of the legality of the marriage of Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraeten and Millicent Rogers, the New York heiress.

Count von Hoogstraeten's attorney, Mr. Kammmerer, gives out a statement that the marriage was civilly approved by the Viennese authorities, but he admits the necessity of presenting the marriage documents upon their arrival here in a few days for the official registration.

Count von Hoogstraeten's first wife, nee Baroness Kramarska, from Frankfurt, although she might have remarried under the German law, is still Countess von Hoogstraeten under the Austrian law, according to the court decision.

McCray Trial Is Set For March 4

(By the Associated Press.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 12.—March 4 was the date set today for the start of the trial of Governor Warren McCray on twelve indictments returned by the Marion county grand jury last November and December. The date was set after Judge James A. Collins of the criminal court had overruled pleas in abatement filed by the governor's attorneys and argued today. The governor formally pleaded not guilty.

Appeal Court's Decision Dropping Shopmen's Suit

(By the Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—System federal number 90, claiming to represent 60,000 shopmen of the Pennsylvania Railroad System, today through counsel appealed from the recent decision of the United States District court dismissing the shopmen's suit for $15,000,000 against the railroad for alleged pay and asking for mandatory injunctions to compel the railroad management to obey the decisions of the United States Railroad Labor Board.

Vacancies On City Council Elicit Interest Already

Interest in the two prospective vacancies in the council is already being seen though the formal resignations of L. B. Conway and W. R. Harrison were made only last night. It is considered likely that the Good Government Club will offer two candidates to fill the gap until September 1st when the present terms of all the council expire.

Last night's resignations bring the total number of resigning since the single council body of nine was elected to four. Strathmore J. Owens, now president of the Good Government Club withdrew in the interest of his health more than a year ago and then James H. Harrison removed to Baltimore, thus creating another vacancy. The places were filled by the election by the council of W. Trede-way Gravelly and George P. Geoghegan, Jr.

Mr. Conway was for nearly fifteen years a member of the city council. He stood with those who were administering the affairs of the city economically and consistently advocated being economical and the operation of the city within its means instead of increasing assessments and increasing taxation. He was chairman of the finance committee during the difficult war period and was a factor in the city emerging from the war with less debt than at the beginning of the war.

One of the accomplishments of his part in administering the city's finances was the inauguration of the system of issuing serial bonds and it was this plan suggested by him that has been put into effect all maturing bonds that had to be refunded as well as all new issues have been on the serial plan, this eventually doing away with a sinking fund to the retirement of bond issues. It was during Mr. Conway's chairmanship of the finance committee, the record shows, that the present system of accounting was inaugurated. Mr. Conway while an advocate of economy was also in favor of street improvements and it said to have been the originator of the large bond issue for street improvements during the past few years. At the time there was a difference over the surfacing of cobble paved streets he stood with those who held that the cobbles would make a lasting base for asphalt and that it would not be necessary to tear up the foundation.

Friend of Mr. Conway speaking of his service to the city this morning said of him that although a strong partisan for the ideas and principles he thought were best for the city he was a considerate of his associates in the council and tactful in dealing with those who did not agree with him.

Mr. Harrison's resignation was not a surprise to some close friends who had heard him discuss withdrawal as long as six months ago. He is one of the younger members of the council and has been an aggressive advocate of lasting improvements in the city.

QUICKLY SUBDUE NEW OUTBREAK IN PRISON

(By The Associated Press.)
PITTSBURGH, Penna., Feb. 12.—Pittsburger and riot calls were sent out from the western penitentiary this morning, Warden J. M. Egan said there was no disorder and a blaze of laundry caused slight damage. County detectives and city police were called to guard against a renewal of yesterday's fighting, when two guards were killed, the warden said.

The prison board was investigating the outbreaks when the fire gong sounded. Prisoners in the yards and workshops were rounded up and the penitentiary fire fighting until extinguished the blaze. When the county and city officers reached the prison they were informed that the fire was out and that there was no trouble.

Three prisoners, Salvatore Battaglia, Phila. County murderer, serving 20 years; Mike North, Allegheny county robber, serving 14 years and Orlikowski, bank robber, were being questioned today in connection with the killing of the two guards. They led the riot, the warden said and were turned over to the coroner for an inquest. Battaglia, known as "bat-tle axe" came to the Western penitentiary from the eastern penitentiary with the "four horsemen" delegation, the warden declared.

"The big prison, located along the Ohio river near the city, was being searched today for dozens of pistols, dynamite and other weapons, used by the prisoners yesterday. The officials believe the arms and explosives were smuggled to the prisoners by outsiders."

Efforts were being made, Warden Egan said, to single out from more than a thousand prisoners those who helped the guards and others during the fight. The prisoners, he said, are gathering funds with which to purchase flowers to be sent to the home of the deputy warden, John Pieper, and Overseer John Coax, the victims of the riot.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 12.—President Obregon today opened the port of Vera Cruz to internal commerce. It was announced by the Mexican consulate here. The port had been closed by federal order in December by rebels.

Good Morning Judge!

Charges of gambling against eight negroes, caught yesterday afternoon while engaged in a little game at Dog Level, were this morning continued. The raid was conducted by Sergeant H. T. Haraway and Patrolmen R. A. Adams and W. C. Talley. Those arrested were James Plummer, James Keen, Sonnie Willis, James Holland, Ben Taylor, James Hilden, Ernest Thomas and Wade Harvey, most of them old offenders with the police. A charge of disorderly conduct against Harvey was dismissed.

G. B. Wagner was fined $11 and costs for driving fast and reckless.

Willie Rushaw, a negro from Caswell county, he said, was sentenced to serve sixty days in jail and pay a fine of $5 on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Not only was a pistol found in the negro's possession, but a pocketful of extra cartridges were discovered.

George Pruitt was fined $51 and costs for violating the Mapp act.

Captain Wooding some days ago was approached on the subject of his aspiring again for the office, and he stated that he intended to be a candidate to succeed himself in June. Since that time he has been actively engaged in campaigning and soliciting his numerous friends. He expressed his intention of seeking reelection at the polls.

MAGNATES TO RULE AGAINST A BONUS IN BASEBALL NOW

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—National League magnates have decided to rule against the bonus in baseball. They will assemble here Tuesday in the annual schedule meeting and according to President Heydler, who probably has sounded them out individually, will vote to abolish the practice of offering bonuses to players for various accomplishments in a season's work. This will not be such good news to the players, and perhaps may cause certain of them to hold out this Spring, but the magnates seem convinced that victory for the fact has been published. Naturally they didn't care to over-exert themselves over-much to take $1,000 away from Ruether. Players like to see their fellow athletes get all the money they can out of the magnates. Ruether won't play that day, but wouldn't have played regardless of the situation in which he was placed. McGraw excluded most of his stars in order to get a look at some youngsters, as well as to guard against injury to the regulars on the eve of a world's series.

But the public didn't know all that. Neither did the public know that before the game, Squire Ebbets, president of the Dodgers, had ruled that Ruether was to have the bonus regardless of the outcome of that game, as the star southpaw had failed to get credit for a win early in the spring against the Giants, when mistakes of his mates allowed the game to end in a tie.

FASHION NOTES

INSET POCKETS

On many smart tailcoats patch pockets are giving way to inset pockets letted like a man's lounge coat or arranged with a shaped top.

CIRCULAR CUFFS

Circular cuffs, embroidered in all-over patterns or trimmed with sou-tache braid in combination with the set, are seen on some of the newest coats.

FUR SCARF

The four-skin marten or sable scarf worn about the neck is very smart with the tailored suit. Those of eight or 10 animals are also seen.

MONOGRAMMED BLOUSE

Little tabs on the smart new blouses with pleated bows offer an opportunity for attractive monograms. Chinese letters are used effectively.

Fashion Devotees Gather For the Spring Openings

BY AILEEN LAMONT

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The devotees of fashion and American dressmakers are now gathered at the Paris spring openings and the dressed exhibited there are gathered too. For the gath'ers or "godrons" are a distinct feature of the new costumes. The French designers according to authentic information reaching here today, insist that since simplicity and beauty and elegance are one, the straight simple silhouette will remain unchanged. But their originality is manifest in that silhouette. Thus the leaders propose to do by means of gath'ers, or "godrons" pleats and panels.

The line, therefore will be straight, slightly full and outlining faintly the contours. The waist line will continue low, marked in some cases by narrow belts, ribbons or draped girdles. Skirts undoubtedly are to be shorter, with what fullness they have generally in front. On many designs the sleeves are long with the godrons again employed extensively to relieve their simplicity.

And the materials? Prepare for surprise. Undoubtedly the material most favored for morning and afternoon dresses is none other than alpaca. The original John Q. Alpaca himself once inhabited Peru and was a sort of llama from the hair of whose back, cloth was made. The new alpacas, however, are beautiful mixtures of wool, silk and cotton, smooth and soft and of the beautiful soft green, blue, pale yellow, golden brown, lacquer red, and a score of other shades.

For evening and formal wear, the laces will be most extensively used this spring. Alpaca and the guipure laces will be especially prominent, mixed with rich brocades, materials of vaporous lightness and the printed silks.

In handling the laces, many designers are seeking a rather upside down effect. They post the lace with the teeth pointing upward instead of downward and the picot edge forming the border.

For the Riviera, the French designers are giving themselves more liberty both in colors and designs for chic is a requisite of the cote d'azur, whether the costume be designed for the casino at Monte Carlo or for the golf courses and polo matches. Of daring evening gown shown is of golden crepe with silhouette straight but flexible, sleeveless, and with batteau neckline. The frock which is fairly long is so draped at the hip as to reveal a goody section of the left leg. To make up for this a panel in the back in the form of a Greek wing covers the back of the right arm.

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESICOTT TO PAULA PERIER

I have been wondering, Paula, just what was your reason for coming back to this town at the present time. Of course I know it will be very pleasing to your vanity to come back here rich, famous and courted and make every woman envious. But in the old days, Paula, you told me that you cared for me more than anything else in the world.

When your life seemed utterly at an end you left with me your baby, and now that both Leslie and I have grown to love it, Syd has intimated and indeed you wrote me something to the effect that you are coming to see if I would give it back to you again.

Don't you see, my dear girl, that nothing worse could happen? I would think that you would have learned by this time, as I have done, that a thing once done can seldom be undone. You can't unscramble eggs, you know. I must make you understand that the boy is mine. He has been given to me through the processes of the law and I shall keep him at any cost.

This will seem to you very hard, but it is destiny. I am not really hard, Paula, and I shall always think of you with great pleasure, for we were happy, happier than I thought could be possible without great love. Of course you know that your coming here will occasion much gossip, and I think perhaps you had better not try to see me. After all, Paula, the chapter is ended and the book is closed. It may seem foolish for me to tell you that I am sorry, but I am, my dear girl, very sorry. I do not say, however, that under similar circumstances I might make a similar mistake, for you were very far from very sweet. Had I never found Leslie I might not have realized that the emotion which you aroused in me was not that of love.

You see, I'm very frank. Men seldom say those things to anyone. In fact, I think they hardly ever even tell them to one another.

However, I think everything has been said, and only silence should rest between you and me forever.

When clean and clear, the intestine is converting wholesome food into vigorous health. But when clogged by constipation, it generates poisons from the obstructed food that can lead to many serious diseases.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It has a natural, healthy action. It works exactly as nature acts. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

Results with Kellogg's Bran are sure, for Kellogg's is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, is endorsed by doctors everywhere. Eat it and you need never take another habit-forming drug or pill.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed, should be eaten regularly—at least two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will enjoy eating it. Kellogg's Bran has a wonderful flavor, a delicious nut-like flavor. And this flavor is an exclusive Kellogg achievement.

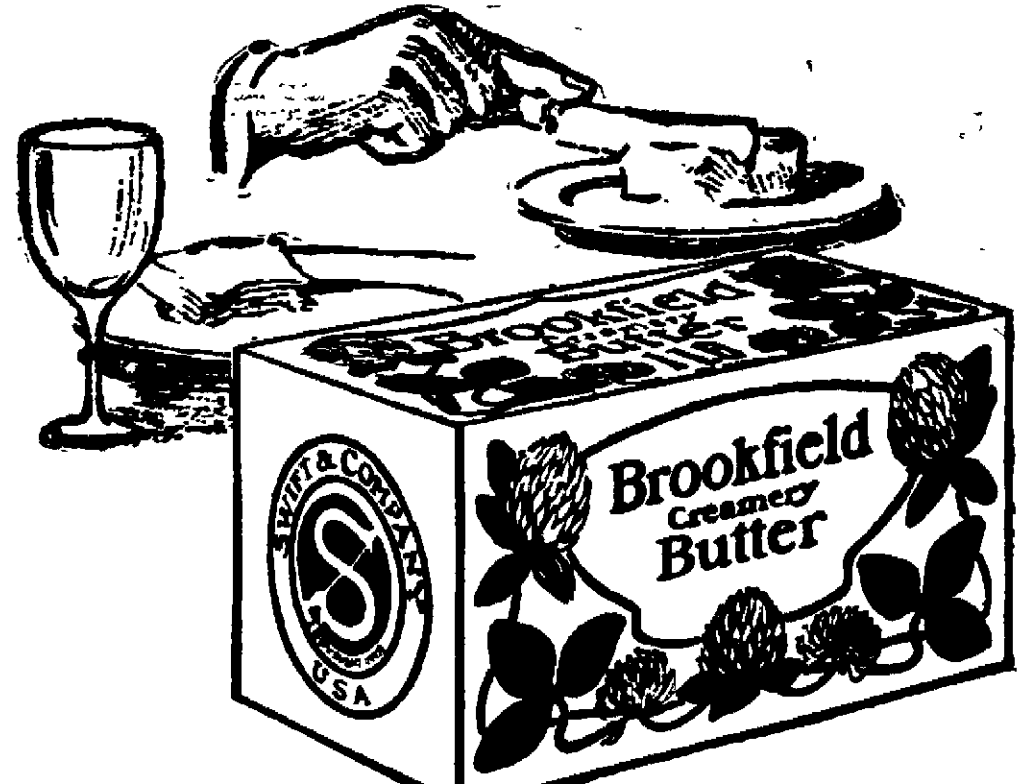

There are many ways to enjoy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed. Eat it with milk or cream as a cereal. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Look for the recipe on every package and try it in muffins, griddle cakes, bran bread, etc.

Bring back your health with Kellogg's Bran. Start to-day! Every member of your family should eat it. The leaving hotel and serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. It is made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

secondary consideration to the administration of the city's affairs. Mr. Guerrant also indicated that were he to find favor at the hands of a majority of the voters of the city he would give thought immediately to the city police department and would seek to harmonize whatever sub-service differences there may be today. He further stated that he would seek the elimination of cliques which he believes detrimental to the department as a whole. In other words, he said, he would seek to give the city a sound business administration.

Mr. Guerrant does not intend to plunge into a political fight. All he wants, he states, is "a fair field and no favors." He said that he was in the hands of his friends, who, he stated some time ago had spoken to him about becoming a candidate for the office. He declared that he had not given the matter much further serious consideration until about a week ago when he was informed that certain rumors were being circulated for him. These rumors, it is reliably understood, contain from five to six hundred names on them. It is likely that some formal announcement will be made by Mr. Guerrant within the next few days or following the proposed meeting of his supporters who have already seemed to have "taken off their coats and gone to work."

Mr. Guerrant is the first candidate to oppose Captain Wooding for eight years. The last contender for the

WILL NOT PLACE WILLIAMSON COUNTY UNDER MARTIAL LAW

(Associated Press Leased Wire) HERRIN, Ill., Feb. 12.—That Williamson county would not be placed under martial law was the statement issued last night by Major General Milton J. Foreman, in command of the two regiments of Illinois National Guard troops stationed in the county to maintain law and order following the disturbance last Friday night when constable Cagley was killed and Deputy Sheriff John Layman wounded.

"The sole aim of the military forces is to exert and vindicate the supremacy of the law which will be enforced to the fullest extent," reads the first sentence of a statement signed by General Foreman appearing in posters in every city and along all roads in the county.

"Hereafter carrying of fire arms or other weapons by any but duly authorized officials of the law is prohibited and troops are instructed to confiscate all fire arms and weapons so carried and to hold the offenders for appropriate action," is another warning contained in the statement, which points to the assumption that further measures are to be adopted by the military in restoring law and order in the county, according to General Foreman.

S. Glenn Young, leader of the Klan forces in Williamson county and acting chief of police of Herrin until John Ford, the regular chief of police, resumed office today after being "kidnapped," left last night for his home at Marion. Young said he would leave the last of the week for Washington in response to a letter from W. A. Anderson, Chicago chief of the general prohibition agents in the matter of injunctions against the alleged bootleggers arrested in the liquor raids.

The unique dissatisfaction in this county was made even more puzzling by the revolt of Sheriff George Callahan and four other men, who are accused of complicity in the murder of constable Cagley by Young, who took the men to Champaign, Ill., where they were placed in the city jail.

Late last night acting Sheriff McCowan, county coroner, left for Champaign with three soldiers to bring these five back to Herrin.

Mrs. Laura Dodson Died Last Night

Mrs. Laura Josephine Dodson, one of Danville's older residents and member of one of Danville's pioneer families, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry W. Skinner, 542 Floyd street, at 11:30 o'clock, last night.

Mrs. Dodson had been ill from a complication of diseases, for thirty days, her condition becoming critical four or five days ago.

Mrs. Dodson was born in Danville on July 20th, 1859, and she lived her life here. She was a daughter of Patrick Henry Lynn a descendant of one of the earliest settlers in Danville who came here in 1823 when the community was a village. The Lynn family acquired that whole section now known as Mechanicsville, but which in early days was open country and which then was not annexed to Danville. Her mother was Miss Jennie Nens also of this city, whose home was where today the Masonic Temple dwells other buildings in the business section.

Mrs. Dodson was for long years a member of the First Presbyterian Church, in which she was active until advancing age prevented this work. Many years ago she was married to J. M. Dodson, a brother of Judge Ben W. Dodson. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Henry W. Skinner.

The funeral will be held at 3:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon from the Floyd street home and will be conducted by Rev. Joseph Dunghinson, interment to be in Green Hill cemetery.

Warren Lincoln's Son Now Held On Accessory Charge

(Associated Press Leased Wire) AUORA, Ill., Feb. 12.—John Lincoln, 20, son of Warren J. Lincoln, the eccentric lawyer-florist under charges of having murdered his wife and her brother, Byron Shoup, a year ago, was to be held on a charge of accessory today, chief of police Nichols announced.

The boy was locked up last night. Indictments charging the elder Lincoln with the double murder were returned at Geneva yesterday.

Young Lincoln was arrested after an examination of the skull of Mrs. Lana Lincoln showed that it had been fractured with a blunt instrument, as well as having been penetrated by bullets the father confessed he fired. The skull recently was found with that of Byron Shoup, Mrs. Lincoln's brother, unburied in a block of concrete after Lincoln's seventh confession led to the weird finding. Lincoln insists he burned the remainder of the two bodies.

Veteran railroad engineer, with 56 years of unbroken service to his credit, declares Tanlac proved equal to emergency and restored his strength and energy when he was badly run down in health.

JOHN P. McWATERS

J. P. McWaters, veteran railroad man, of 447 East Fair St., Atlanta, Ga., who is credited with 56 years' unbroken service as an engineer on the Atlanta & West Point, recently paid high tribute to Tanlac.

"Several years ago," said Mr. McWaters, "I became so run-down it looked like my chain of service might be broken before I could run out my fifty-year period. However, I resorted to Tanlac to set me right, and Tanlac proved fully equal to the emergency, quickly heading off the trouble and bringing my strength and energy right up to normal."

"Since then, when I have felt a little run-down, or 'off my feed' as the railroad boys say, I have taken Tanlac, and it never fails to do the work I am using Tanlac now as a general tonic, and my health stays fine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 25 million bottles sold.

Their Prayer Was Heard!

Abraham Lincoln had been assassinated! Citizens of Bloomington, Ill., who had known him when he was a young lawyer and later when he was campaigning for the Senate, gathered in mass-meeting to voice their horror over his tragic death. "A Life for a Life" they demanded when John Wilkes Booth's name was mentioned. Similar gatherings were held in every city of any consequence throughout the nation. But as far as can be ascertained, this picture, hanging today in the Bloomington Public Library, is the only photographic evidence that yet remains of any of them.

Object to a Shaft Over Tomb of the Unknown Soldier

(Associated Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Secretaries Weeks and Denby, who are members of the commission in charge of memorial amphitheatre at Arlington National Cemetery, are understood to disapprove the plans of fine art commission for the erection of a 35-foot shaft over the tomb of the unknown soldier.

Drawings approved by the fine arts commission were submitted to the two secretaries, whose consent is necessary if such memorial is to be added to the tomb, and it is understood that they will join in a letter to the commission expressing their dissatisfaction with the specific plan submitted. In general way both cabinet officials said to favor retention of the unknown soldier's tomb perfectly as it is no statutory device in its present simplicity.

National League Owners Meeting

(Associated Press Leased Wire) NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Owners of the National League baseball clubs went into their annual mid-winter meeting today while the managers of the International League finished the second day of their conference.

Several of the national league owners were bent on making trades, probably Brooklyn, which was after Rahm Maranville, Pittsburgh shortstop, and Boston, which has angled for Rogers Hornsby and Jeff Pfeffer of St. Louis.

Other subjects occupying the national league owners were the 1924 playing schedule, a proposal to have baseball writers select each club's most valuable player, a suggestion that the number of coaches permitted a team be limited, and appointment of the 1924 umpiring staff.

Take Up Revenue Bill Tomorrow

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—House leaders were busy lining up their revenue bill which will be taken up Thursday.

Announcement by Representative Longworth, Republican floor leader, that a higher maximum surtax rate than the 25 per cent. in the bill now doubtless will have to be adopted was followed yesterday by a publication of a letter from Slomp to Senator Coolidge's discussion of the tax bill, indicated that he disagreed to a high rate.

The letter was sent January 28 in reply to a question by the representative whether the president would veto a tax reduction bill "that differs materially from the so-called Mellon plan."

Henry Ford Has 162,792 Workers

(Associated Press Leased Wire) DETROIT, Feb. 12.—Henry Ford now employs in his major industries here and throughout the world 162,792 persons. It is announced by the Ford Motor company, of this city, that 121,414 are employed in manufacturing plants of the company of the United States and 24,322 in the American branches. Employees in foreign lands number 11,928.

In addition to those employed by the Ford Motor company—a total of 156,565—there are 2,525 men employed on Ford's D. T. & I. Railroad, 2,232 workers in Fordson coal mines, 730 men at work at the Henry Ford Trade School and 100 employed at the Henry Ford hospital here.

The Highland park (Detroit) plant remains the ace of the Ford industries, employing 68,285 men.

VIRGINIA OVER 100 P. C. RICHER THAN IN 1912

(Associated Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Virginia's wealth at the close of 1922, $4,891,570,000—was an increase of 106.9 per cent over the state of wealth at the end of 1912, the Census Bureau announced today. Per capita wealth for the people increased 22.7 per cent, the 1922 and 1912 figures being $2,050 and $1,122, respectively.

COOLIDGE WILL SPEAK IN NEW YORK TONIGHT

First Public Utterance Since He Took Office and First Departure From Washington—Will Speak to National G. O. P. Club.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—President Coolidge left Washington at 11:22 o'clock today for New York where he will address the national Republican club, tonight.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The trip of President and Mrs. Coolidge today to New York, where Mr. Coolidge tonight will address the National Republican club, is their first departure any distance from Washington since they entered the White House.

Not since last August 11, when the president and his wife returned from the funeral of President Harding at Marion have they been more than a few miles outside the district of Columbia and that was early last fall when they went to the nearby Virginia city of Alexandria to attend the laying of the cornerstone of the National Masonic memorial there.

The address to be delivered tonight is carefully prepared by Mr. Coolidge. It is his first important address as president to campaign managers for re-election.

Several engagements, mostly of minor importance, were listed for the president before his departure, but the Tuesday cabinet meeting was cancelled. One cabinet member, Postmaster General New, with Mrs. New, is accompanying the President and Mrs. Coolidge. Other members of the small party, as announced, were Representative Snell of New York and Mrs. Snell and C. Pascom Slomp, secretary to the president.

ADDRESS WILL BE BROADCAST BY RADIO

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—President Coolidge today takes his first visit to New York since being president.

He will arrive at Penna station at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon and return to the capital at midnight.

On the way from the station to the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, President Coolidge will visit and inspect the new quarters of the Women's National Republican club.

In the evening at the Waldorf, he will be the guest of honor at the 38th annual Lincoln dinner of the National Republican club, at which, it is expected, 2,000 persons will be present. Except for United States Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York, the president will be the only speaker. Mrs. August Belmont will read Lincoln's "Gettysburg address."

The president's address at the dinner his first public political utterance since he took office, will be broadcast by radio. Guests at dinners and other functions held tonight in this and other cities, will listen to the presidential address by radio.

Laborites Sit For First Time In Parliament

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The members of the British parliament assembled today for the first time under a Labor government.

The fact that the Laborites, in their own words are taking office without power, did not diminish interest in their accession and all available public space in the House of Commons was bespoken in long advances.

Chiefs, today transfer themselves to the front bench on the speaker's left hand, where, although their party is still considerably the most numerous in the House, they will act as his majesty's official opposition.

The leaders of the Liberals, now the smallest party in the commons, occupy the front bench on the ministerial side "below the gangway" and away from the familiar table where Asquith and Lloyd George so often attended the House leaders either the government or opposition.

Premier MacDonald will move the election of Robert Young, whose acceptance has been for some time regarded as certain. The premier's declaration of policy will follow. The debate on the premier's pronouncement is expected to occupy Thursday sessions.

Butler Plans New Raids For Today

(Associated Press Leased Wire) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12.—Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler, director of public safety, suddenly appeared at the electrical bureau, the municipal center, early today and ordered all police districts "plugged in" simultaneously.

Connections established, he commanded the lieutenants at the district stations to turn out for a drive, to last until midnight. Heralded of a "get em," was his announcements that raids would be made.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY

Saint Valentine, according to legend, history was a Saint of the Roman Calendar, and is supposed to have been martyred in the year 306. In one of the legends handed down thru the generations to the present century, we are told that the birds began to mate on this day which perhaps is the reason why love is so closely associated with Valentine Day.

On the Eve of this day, February 14, young people of both sexes used to meet and cast lots for those of the opposite sex by means of drawing cards from a box or other common receptacle on which were inscribed the names of the opposite sex. After the cards had been drawn, the holder of the card bearing one of the young ladies names and she became each others Valentine and the gentlemen were bound in the service of their Valentines for one year. This procedure was something similar to the lotteries that were once in vogue in this country and are still very popular in England.

A similar custom prevailed in the Roman Lupercalia, to which the modern custom of sending tokens of love which are expressed by messages written on post cards bearing the likeness of Cupid with his little bow and arrow also by gifts of flowers and other tokens of a sentimental nature may be traced. And we have an idea that there are a number of old bachelors and old maids who have been unfortunate in making the hitch for life, who would gladly revert back to the lottery system of mating and pairing off those of the opposite sexes.

The association of any of these customs with Saint Valentine is erroneous.

SPORTS GOSSIP

For the first time since he became a national figure in golf, Bobby Jones, holder of the open championship, is appearing in matches at the winter resort. Usually Jones plays little golf during the "closed season."

Young Stribling, the Georgia school-boy light heavyweight, is developing a fine right hand punch. Heretofore he depended mainly on a left hand attack. Against Billy Shade in a recent bout he used his right almost exclusively.

Earl Sande, America's premier rider, and Laverne Pator, no many degrees back of Sande in skill, are both conditioning horses belonging to the Sinclair-Hildreth stable at Jobstown, N. J.

Johnny Buff, formerly flyweight champion of America and bantamweight champion of the world, has started training again in the east with a view to staging a fight comeback.

Wilson has mailed out contracts to their 1924 players and it is understood that one has been sent to "Lefty" Wilson, one of Herb Murphy's mainstays on the shooting hill last season. "Lefty" would like to remain in Danville and his having around the old Piedmont circuit and it is hoped that some means will be devised to keep him here for the coming season although the prospects of such a deal being put through are pretty slim. Anyway, here's hoping.

The season is getting a premature start over at Spencer. Sunday's papers carried an account of a baseball game between two high schools at the railroad village. Must have been pretty raw weather for chasing a baseball around.

North Carolina State announces their basketball schedule which opens April 2. The battery candidates will be working out in the gym over there in a few days and the campus will be abuzz with gossip. The boys always are rushing the season but just the same it would be pretty good to be hanging around listening to the gossip.

Ronoke, it is understood, is to take the date which Dempsey was to appear here on Ronoke isn't over, looking any bets and the people over there when they see a good thing grab it. Charlotte is making great preparations for the coming of the champion from the Carolina city. They are expecting crowds from Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Gastonia, and as far as Spartanburg. There is an even bigger crowd anticipated than gathered at Raleigh when Dempsey was there. Notwithstanding all the legislation against box-fighting in this part of the country, every time a luminary of the ring world makes an appearance people flock from all the surrounding towns to see the pugilistically inclined gent do his stuff. Funny thing, isn't it?

Winston-Salem doesn't seem to be favoring the schedule made out by Murphy for the 1924 Piedmont season. The Twins stand forth in amount of mileage and get the same number of home games as the other clubs. It isn't clearly understood just what the object is. Probably the management over there may be contemplating the presentation of a schedule of their own.

There doesn't appear to be any further developments in the matter of bringing the Yankees and Dodgers here for an exhibition game this spring on their way north. Still every one feels that if there is any change in the schedule, Danville will get the game. Hope is not given up yet.

DEMPSEY "KAY-O'S" "DUTCH" SEIFERT

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 11.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion pugilist, arrived here yesterday and tonight boxed three exhibition bouts, all two-round affairs, at the Coliseum.

He took on Owen Barker, local light heavyweight, who is scheduled to meet Gene Tunney here Friday night for the light heavyweight championship.

Tony Marvin, local fighter, and Dan O'Dowd, one of the champion's sparring partners.

When asked regarding his bout in Memphis Saturday night in which he stopped "Dutch" Seifert, Dempsey declared he "hated to do it but the big fellow was getting a bit too rough."

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—General Henry T. Allen, of the Olympic committee, has been in conference with Secretary of War Weeks in an effort to find some way of persuading Congress to grant funds for the sending abroad of the American Olympic teams. This gives some idea of the gravity of the sign.

The money is not coming in. There has been no spirited response to the attempt to raise the necessary funds, and the committee is naturally becoming very anxious. Besides, and perhaps, this has something to do with the lack of monetary response—there are distinct divisions between some of the bodies controlling athletics in this country, and the breaches have not perceptibly narrowed since the new year started.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Stanley Harris, young second sacker picked to pilot the Washington Americans this season, steps into his role with one of the briefest major league records any manager has ever had. He is 27 years old, the youngest leader in either circuit, and has had fewer seasons of play, yet his employer, Clark Griffith, himself a former manager, has placed the fullest confidence in his youthful star.

Harris is three years younger than George Sisler, now manager of the St. Louis Browns, and four years the junior of Dave Bancroft, former Giant managerial ventures of this trio will be one of the most interesting sidelights of the 1924 campaign. With

MURCHISON IS RECOGNIZED AS BEST SPRINTER

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Recognition of Loren Murchison as the foremost sprinter of America, is granted the Newark A. C. speed flash by Fredrick W. Rubien, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, in his annual all-American track and field selections, published in the latest issue of Spalding's Athletic Almanac.

In casting about through the wealth of information on the year's track and field activities throughout the country, Rubien has selected Murchison for four separate sprint distances on his mythical team representing the greatest possible power in American athletics. The Newark A. C. sprinter is chosen for the 60 yard dash and the 220 yard dash, at which he is the national champion and the 300 yard run, at which distance he also holds the record.

The star of the mythical team, Murchison, is but one of several athletes who are this year selected for more than one position. Joe W. Ray of the Illinois A. C. America's kingpin middle-distance runner, is selected for the mile and two mile runs; Karl W. Anderson, Illinois A. C. crack hurdler, is chosen for the seventy-yard and 120-yard hurdles and Willie Plant, Morningside A. C., walking star is named for the one mile and seven mile walk positions.

Willie Brown, Finnish-American A. C. representative, is now in his native Finland, preparing to represent his mother country in the Olympic games, is chosen for the cross-country steeplechase and the ten mile events. For the marathon honors Secretary Rubien selects Clarence de Mar, Boston runner, who showed the way in the last running of the American marathon.

Secretary Rubien in selecting five athletes for two or more positions in the team, is regarded by many as indicating a desire on the part of the country's foremost athletes to press their superb form at its height, and a reversion to the type of athlete of two or three decades ago when specialization was not so emphatically conspicuous.

As has been his custom Secretary Rubien has delved into the athletic archives in the nation's academic circles and has selected an all-college and an all-scholastic team. His college team contains the names of eight athletes who are recognized with berths on the all-American team.

Nominations from high school districts are predominant on the scholastic squad. No less than five positions are awarded to the youngsters from the Pennsylvania institution.

Pirates Jinx of Giant Pitchers

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Giant "has been pitchers, rolled up a record of thirteen defeats and one victory in games pitched in 1923 against the Pittsburgh Pirates. Evidently the Pittsburgh players "had the number," as the saying goes, of this particular group of mound talent, and had they been required to face Giant "has been" all season, they might have run away with the pennant.

John Barnes, now of the Boston Nationals, had the poorest record in the National League against any particular team, as a result of his pitching against the Pirates. He lost five contests and failed to win another. Toney, an ex-Giant, who played with St. Louis in 1923, won one game from Pittsburgh and lost one. Marquard, now with Boston, lost two to the Pirates and won none. Oeschger, who was with Boston last year, but who will be with the Giants again in 1924, lost two to Pittsburgh and won none.

The record of former Giant pitchers against their old New York team mates was not much better. Benton won one game from New York and lost three. Toney lost two and won none. Barnes lost five and won one. Marquard lost two and won none. Oeschger won one and lost three. That is a total of three victories and eleven defeats.

If there is any moral to the tale, it seems to be that the former New York pitchers are not very dangerous against either New York or Pittsburgh, and that if Chicago or Cincinnati hopes to win the National League championship in 1924, they had better drop their marrow bones and pray that other pitchers than those named be sent in to wage the fight against New York and Pittsburgh this coming season.

GAMES FOR THE SAKE

BY LAWRENCE PERRY

(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Whether or not James O. Anderson's financial dispute with the Australian Davis Cup authorities led to his decision not to play in the 1924 Davis Cup series, the fact remains that his defection will seriously affect the Antipodean outlook for world supremacy in the court game.

The reason for Anderson's attitude was not stated by the star but surmises in this country will be based upon the difficulties he had over his American expense account. His suggestion that Australia wait until 1925 before making another attempt to win the Davis Cup is strong as it would seem, chiefly because he himself will not be available. But it is hardly likely it will be followed, even though the sporting elements of this year's invasion is likely to be more pronounced than the element of probable success.

With Anderson a member of the Australian team and such men as Patterson, O'Hara Wood, Hawkes and Norman Brookes available, it is difficult to see why the under-enders should have to wait a year before making a brave bid for the trophy.

SAYS BIG OFFER TO FIRPO RESULT OF MISCONCEPTION

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

BUEENOS AIRES, Feb. 12.—Announcement that Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, has been offered $1,100,000 by a New York syndicate for his exclusive services in the United States for one year was the result of a misconception, Hugh Garland, he said, reported the total of all offers Firpo has received recently for boxing matches and vaudeville and motion picture work during the coming year.

Two months of diet on his beloved "puer chero" the Argentine champion for a new England, bailed dinner... combined with a sedentary life in his newly established automobile agency, put enough flesh on Firpo to make him appear almost roly-poly when he began public training for his forthcoming 15 round matches with Farmer Lodge, an American, Ermino Spalla, a European heavyweight champion.

Firpo is not worried about Lodge whom he is scheduled to fight next Saturday. Spalla is regarded as a formidable candidate and Firpo is being warned not to enter the ring over-confident. Predictions are being made that Spalla will call Firpo's full skills and strength, although the Italian probably will weigh 35 pounds less, while his reach will be several inches short of Firpo's.

The bout with Lodge, part of the proceeds of which will go to charity, is regarded as little more than an exhibition and public interest is centered in the Spalla match.

The two matches will be held in a football field which the French promoter, Ferdinand Leckman, has equipped to handle a crowd of 60,000. The ringside section will hold 20,000.

Between his periods of training activity, Firpo finds time to attend his automobile business. He is besieged with callers, most of whom want to interest him in investment projects or beseech his presence at theatrical sporting and social events as a drawing card for attendance. Many of these offers come in his voluminous mail but he refuses to spar with cupid.

Two magnates—William F. Baker of Philadelphia, and Charles H. Ebbetts, of Brooklyn—interrupted vacations in Florida to attend the session with the avowed intention of seeking to strengthen their line-ups.

Ebbetts, it is said, may reopen negotiations with Pittsburgh for Rabbit Maraville, veteran shortstop, although this proposed deal, may be held up because of the absence of Barney Dreyfuss, Pittsburgh magnate who is ill. Baker, who was accompanied by his manager, Arthur Fletcher, said he was in the market particularly for pitching strength.

Posson and St. Louis may complete negotiations for a trade begun recently when the Braves started baseball followers by topping bidder for Rogers Hornsby, famous Cardinal second sacker. Hornsby, it is understood will not be traded to the Braves or any other, but it was reported Jeff Pfeffer, Cardinal pitcher, may figure in a deal which would send Earl Smith, Boston catcher to St. Louis.

Race prejudice is most acute in that part of the higher race that is nearest to the lower.—Associated Editors (Chicago.)

Anderson's victory over Johnston in 1923 showed what can happen in these matches and all will remember the splendid battle which Anderson and Hawkes waged against the American doubles team at Forest Hills.

It would not be an odds on bet with Anderson and Patterson playing in the singles, that America would get better than an even break while with Brookes in his old form—as he seems now to be—who would attempt to argue that Australian would not have at least a good fighting chance in the doubles.

In fact there are some who think that Anderson and Patterson teamed and playing at the top of their game would defeat any doubles combination we could present.

It would thus be seen that Anderson's absence from the Australian Davis Cup team will, on paper, at least, have a disastrous aspect. In some measure, too, it will have its repercussion so far as public interest in the Davis Cup matches in this country is concerned. Good, stiff competition and a strong element of uncertainty are of the essence of public interest in sport, international or otherwise.

More Player Deal Rumors Abroad

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Several players deals among National League clubs were in prospect tonight in the wake of marriage plans for the annual mid-winter meeting tomorrow.

SIX ASSETS OF MODERN CATCHER

By BILL EVANS

Has he good arm? Is he accurate in his throwing? How does he play a runner at the plate?

Not so many years ago there were three vital assets and when a major league club was thinking of buying some highly touted catching recruit.

A good arm was a most necessary asset. It was the asset that received the most consideration. A catcher with a weak arm didn't have a chance to break into the majors.

As in other departments of play, the requirements of a good catcher have undergone many changes. No longer is the importance of a good throwing arm stressed. There are other features more vitally important.

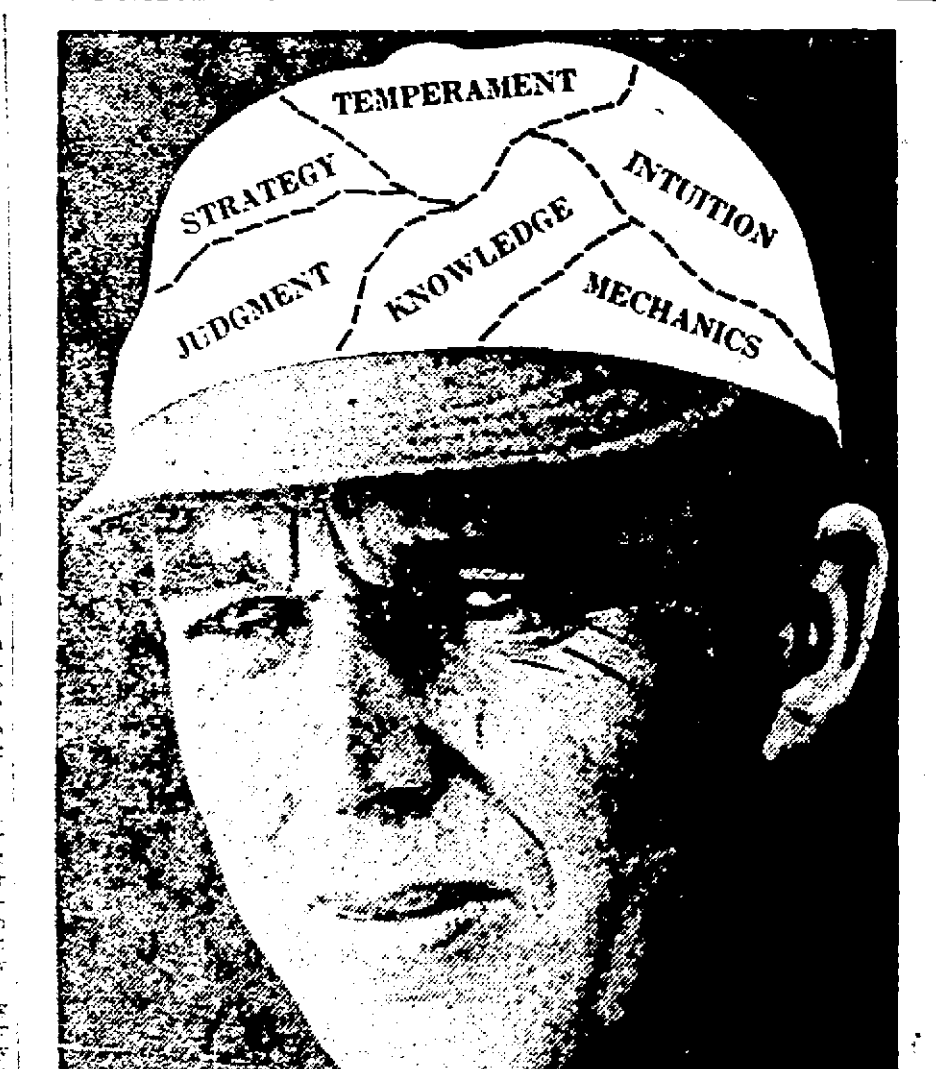

Marvyn Lee, first of the Boston Red Sox in his day a mighty good receiver, is very positive in his opinion that the catching requirements of today are quite different from those of 1900.

A specific catching throwing arm is no longer a catcher's greatest asset. Few catchers are well to have it but it is not necessary. Why? Well, simply because the catchers don't have to do much throwing any more.

Few Try to Steal

"Base running is almost a lost art. Trying to steal a base is a rather antiquated theory on catching. It is a rather rare case for a catcher to make more than one throw to a runner in an effort to block a steal in a game. Many games the catcher would be called upon to make a single throw to that base."

Considerably the matter of playing the runner at the plate is no longer a big item with a catcher. Not many runners are thrown out at the plate these days. Trying the double play is more or less a rarity. In other words, plays at the plate in which the catcher must put the ball on the runner are the exception.

RAY SCHALK, PERFECT CATCHER

Knowledge of batter's peculiarities and the accuracy and strength of all four arms is a catcher's greatest asset. It is a catcher's greatest asset. It is a catcher's greatest asset. It is a catcher's greatest asset.

Hooker's Speech Was Rare One

By GEORGE H. MANNING

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 11.—Congressman Murray Hooker of the Fifth Virginia District, in one of the very rare speeches he makes, did perhaps more than any member of the House to bring about defeat of the amendment proposed by the Republicans to prevent the issue hereafter of tax-exempt securities.

It is conceded by post-mortem analysts that the tide was turned when members with farmer constitutions or having an interest in the rural prosperity had it pointed out to them that one effect of the amendment would be to destroy the new Federal Farm Loan system, under which money is loaned to farmers at 6 per cent. maximum, whereas without these banks the same borrowers would be paying, it was charged, 7 per cent. or more.

Mr. Hooker had made complete preparation for his speech, massing data which proved convincing. While several other members spoke, along the same line, it was Mr. Hooker's which made the deepest impression and influenced others to come to the rescue of the new farm bank system by voting against the amendment.

Mr. Hooker said in part: "The law at present limits the rate that may be charged by the Federal Farm Loan system to 6 per cent. It cannot exceed that. This limitation on the interest charge was made so that the borrowing farmer would get the benefit of the tax-free feature in the securities of the system rather than the bank itself."

"If the bonds of the Federal Farm Loan system are taxed, the result will be that this limitation of 6 per cent. interest will have to be repealed by Congress, the farmer will have to pay in excess of 6 per cent., the system will soon go out of business, and the farmer will be relegated to the old system of borrowing money on short time, with the expense and trouble of frequent renewals and high and heavy commissions."

At another point, Mr. Hooker said: "In the district that I have the honor to represent here, the tobacco farmers have become members of the Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, an organization which has for its purpose storing and marketing their tobacco by the farmers of the association in an orderly and advantageous manner. This and all similar associations frequently need short-time paper. The intermediate credit bank system can be very helpful to them in this regard. I understand from the daily press that some of the farmers who are members of this association are now contemplating establishing in Danville, Va., an intermediate credit bank. The adoption of this amendment would destroy this movement at this point, as well as destroy the system in the entire country."

Congressman Harrison, of the Seventh Virginia district, who also warned the House that the amendment would strike down the farm loan system, produced and read into the record a tabulation showing that these farm loan banks have loaned in the state of Virginia $22,675,434 to 8,100 seeking the murderers of Louise Lawson, the musteludent slain in her apartment last Friday, tonight were working on two definite theories. One was that the murderers were among the host of bootleggers believed by the police to have delivered liquor to the girl, the other theory was that a well known beau brummell, who pretended to be a physician and lollied about Time Square, was one of the slayers. His photograph was identified in the rogues gallery by Thomas Kane, elevator boy, who unwittingly took the murderers to Miss Lawson's apartment. "Get every bootlegger who has done business with Louise Lawson within the last year," headquarters ordered. 12b2

GIRLS IN OWN APARTMENTS IN N. Y. ARE ALWAYS IN DANGER

By ROBERT T. SMALL
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Something akin to panic has been seized upon the girls and there are thousands of them who live alone in their own bachelor apartments in New York. They have become more and more the prey of a predatory gang of criminals, blackmailers, thieves and rascals who stop at nothing and to whom could murder be but a means to an end. The slaying of pretty 21-year-old Louise Lawson, daughter of the Texas prairies, has awakened the bachelor girls—some insist upon calling them the butterflies of Broadway—to their constant peril.

To those of the girls who boast of "patrons" the danger is more imminent than to the girls who work for their livelihood on their own doors. The downstairs door is generally open and all the thieves and murderers have to do is to climb the stairs, knock at a door and walk in.

Another peril to the girls living alone is the fact that in New York apartment houses persons seldom if ever concern themselves as to what is going on next door.

The slaying of a strange man entering or leaving an apartment is not regarded as tending to excite either suspicion or criticism. It is a part of the New York idea. A girl with an apartment has all the privileges of a private home and need not regulate the hours or the number of her visitors.

The "Dot" King and the Louise Lawson murder have been the most spectacular of the past year, but they have by no means been all. Girls in more obscure quarters in more obscure sections of the city have likewise been attacked, robbed and killed. Some of the crimes have been all too evidently the deeds of degenerates and this class of criminal is the most difficult with which the police have to deal. With the degenerate, robbery is not always a motive, but often is committed to throw the police off the scent.

As long as the oldest profession in the world continues, so long will there be a gang to prey upon the ill-gotten gains of the women.

JAPANESE PROTEST BUILDING OVER BODIES OF QUAKE VICTIMS
YOKOHAMA, Feb. 12.—Relatives of earthquake victims whose bodies have not been recovered have been building on ground under which bodies are supposed to be buried, and protesting against the government pending the completion of the reconstruction program.

The protests are being made because of the traditional Japanese custom which makes it a duty to have at least a portion of a relative's body ever concern themselves as to what is going on next door.

TO ITALY?

Copyright, Harris & Ewing

William Phillips, under secretary of state, is being mentioned for the post of ambassador to Italy, succeeding Richard Washburn Child, who soon will retire.

When nine years old, Miss Eulless was playing in the kitchen with her sister. Outside a neighbor shot at a dog. The children attracted by the noise of the shot, ran to a window just before the man shot again. The second bullet struck a stone and glancing hit the young girl in the neck, edging in front and under the chin.

Bullet In Lung of Woman 21 Yrs. to Be Removed

GREENSBORO, N. C., Feb. 12.—Miss Bernice Eulless of Graham, N. C., is on her way today to Philadelphia, where doctors will make an effort to remove a bullet which has been embedded in her left lung for twenty years. Unless the bullet can be removed it is doubtful, physicians say whether she can live.

When nine years old, Miss Eulless was playing in the kitchen with her sister. Outside a neighbor shot at a dog. The children attracted by the noise of the shot, ran to a window just before the man shot again. The second bullet struck a stone and glancing hit the young girl in the neck, edging in front and under the chin.

Miss Eulless never suffered from the effects of the wound until three weeks ago when she became ill. An x-ray picture disclosed the fact that the bullet had worked its way from the neck to the lung.

KOREANS SHOW INTEREST IN MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 12.—For the first time since municipal governments were established in Korea, the Koreans have taken an interest in the elections to the municipal councils.

Previous to 1922 the Korean members of the councils were appointed and in every case those known to be pro-Japanese were selected. In the first election the Koreans refused to take part, with the result that the whole proceedings were a fizzle. This year, however, they nominated their own candidates and succeeded in electing 15 of the 30 councilmen, the other 15 being Japanese.

The voting qualification is a property of 100 won (about $2.50) or the prefectural tax office are entitled to a vote.

The interest shown in the elections is considered by old residents as the most hopeful sign for Korea since the change from a military to a civil form of government.

SUNFLOWERS FEED STOCK ON OLD CLIMATE FARMS

DURHAM, New Hampshire, Feb. 12.—If the climate is too cold for corn, try sunflowers. The agricultural experts at the University of New Hampshire have received reports from county agent D. A. O'Brien of Coos county, the northernmost New Hampshire county, indicating that the substitution works well there from and the cow.

The growing season in this county is too short for the successful production of grain. Since 1929 a number of farmers have been experimenting with sunflowers, and Mr. O'Brien believes that the crop has proved worth while. The stalks grow rapidly and show good resistance to frost. When cut up for storage the stalks are turned into a feed of high quality for dairy herds.

The hairy or winter vetch also is coming into popular use in Coos county as a nutritious hay. The plant grows wild in that section and also has been cultivated. As it is a legume it is valuable both for feed and soil improvement.

HIGH PRICES FOR PORTER DISTURB DUBLIN WORKERS

DUBLIN, Feb. 12.—The high cost of living in Dublin is keeping up wages and increasing the difficulty of readjustments between employers and workers. Porter, regarded as an essential food by laborers, still costs eight pence a pint in this city, though sold for six pence in the provinces and for five in Manchester. Half of the bankrupts are farmers, while the others who sell their produce are said to be growing rich.

The government declines to intervene in the situation, and urges that consumers use discrimination in buying.

NO NIGHT CALLS

TUFTS, Sarth, France, Feb. 12.—On the life of the municipal physician here.

Besides his salary, he receives premiums for helping villagers preserve their health.

Butter yet, he can refuse to attend those who've not obeyed his orders.

"HOGGING" IT ALL

CORSHAM, Wiltshire, Eng., Feb. 12.—Four children in one family here won second, third, fourth and fifth prizes in a recent contest. Guessing the number of pigs in a pound was the all important question.

One of the most promising suggestions for peace in Europe is that each nation attend to its own business and stop trying to ruin its neighbor.—Birmingham (Ala.) Age-Herald.

INVESTORS IN JULIAN SCHEME HAVE 8 MILLION AT STAKE

By FOREST WHITE.
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee.)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—C. C. Julian, oil promoter, whom Chaplin floored with a punch in the Cafe Patrouille a short time ago, is on his back again.

This time forty-three thousand investors, with eight million dollars at stake, who but yesterday acclaimed him their super-man of finance, are in a daze in the helpless plight of their champion, their dreams of great riches fading before the cold reality of probable losses.

The business interests of the city, suddenly aware of the serious situation that has developed out of one of the greatest engines of frenzied finance that ever gripped a community, with an element of potential peril to all its people and institutions through panic have intervened with the hope of averting a crash that would mean a total loss of every dollar invested in the Julian schemes.

With the threatened collapse of the Julian bubble also comes the realization of the futility of the boasted blue sky law of California, following a court decision which virtually laid down the rule that courts of law were powerless to void the pockets of the people by the promise of quick returns of large profits. Within two years close of fifteen million dollars, chiefly in sums ranging from one hundred to five hundred dollars, have been subscribed to his various schemes in oil with only one of them—the first, ever returning the original investment. His legitimate take-off, under the twenty per cent. allowance for promotion under the blue sky law, would amount to three million dollars and his personal profits as these schemes go should have been enormous.

Julian arrived in Los Angeles about two years ago at the height of the oil boom, coming from Texas. Julian had not done so well in Texas with his promotions, and says he arrived in Los Angeles virtually broke, with only a few dollars in his pockets. He obtained a lease and a backer, and began to advertise units for sale in syndicate to drill for oil. His advertisements were studiously crude, slangy and amusing, and were devoted to advertising Julian, a smooth and dapper stock salesman, as a rough and ready, awkwardly honest toiler of the oil fields, than to the merits of his lease. He wanted the people to put their trust in him as a man who knew how to get the oil.

The results must have surprised even Julian. He kept up his line of advertising chatter, taking more and more space in the newspaper and put over half a dozen schemes, each one tending to bring a million or more dollars, one after the other, and even without production. The price of his units in local trading shot up to double and treble their selling price. Julian, rode high, and somebody cleaned up big before the break came.

The break did come, but Julian was prepared. He took the public into his confidence and said that drilling for oil was not the right end of the game. He proposed to organize in opposition to the Standard and other big oil companies, with pipe lines, tank farms, refineries, tank steamers and all the rest, and let the people in on the ground floor, and all they had to do was to subscribe ten million dollars, and do it quick. Here is an extract from one of his advertisements showing how he won them.

"Am I crazy?" "Have I gone coo-coo?" "Did I just break out of the asylum?" "Yes, I did not just break out of an asylum. I'm as crazy as a fox."

"I'm as crazy as 'Henry Ford' was when he went around almost begging people here and there to stick in even $100 to carry through what has proven 'the greatest money-maker of the age.' $100 invested with 'Henry' is worth around two million dollars today."

"I'm just that crazy that the people of California are shooting me in fifty to seventy-five thousand dollars a day to carry through a project that is going to knock the whole world for a stack of blue chips, when I start to pay off."

This style of advertising continued to bring money in to Julian despite every effort of Corporation Commissioners, Darghery and his colleagues, to discourage the scheme, even to compelling Julian to print on the back of his stock a warning that it was highly speculative, and to impound a certain amount of the money received.

When the impounded money had reached almost two million dollars Julian sued Darghery and gained possession of the money, while his stockholders, crowding the court room, cheered for Julian.

The big sum of money, evidently for the company and for Julian, seemed advertising charges for the newspaper and unable to get any fresh money, has consented to an arrangement whereby a number of disinterested business men will make up the majority of his board of directors and try to save the investors from loss.

FRIEND
A starving pauper, picked up unconscious in a New York street, refuses $500 for his dog. He says the dog is his only friend. Police gave him the price of a beef stew. He goes his way, and shares the stew with his dog.

LOYAL FRIEND, dog or man, is a priceless possession. In a whole lifetime, few of us make more than half a dozen such friends. Yet there are plenty of men who, down-and-out, would sell their last human friend for $500 or less.

FATAL
Last year 2452 men were killed by accidents in American coal mines, the government reports. This is deplorable, and the campaign for more mine safety devices should continue. Fortunately, the death rate among miners is gradually getting less. In rough figures, one miner is killed for every 250,000 tons of coal brought to the surface.

FORD
One in every 662 Americans now is on the payroll of Henry Ford. He has about 130,000 employees. Making allowances for children, housewives and old people, not more than 30 million Americans actually work for wages or salaries or profits. And, of these, Ford employs about one in every 200.

WATER
The largest dam in the world is being built in India. It's part of a gigantic irrigation project. This dam will be nearly a mile long. A bridge on top of it will be as far above the ground as the height of the Wool-

STIMULANTS
The craving for stimulants is the real prohibition problem. With liquor harder to get, Americans have been drinking more coffee. Last year 514 cups of coffee were drunk, for every American, compared with 455 cups the year before. Actual consumption by coffee drinkers was much larger, for these figures are the average for all men, women and children—and include millions who never touch coffee.

A cup of strong black coffee can contain as much as two grains of caffeine.

SWAT
A mother mosquito, says a government report, may bite 12 different people in a month. Our estimate would have been "in five minutes."

The mosquito does not generate disease. It merely acquires it from one infected person and carries it to the next one it stings. Discovery of this fact led to the virtual extinction of yellow fever. The scientist in his laboratory sometimes makes wild-eyed observations, but frequently these lead to practical things.

After the mosquito becomes excited, it stings and sends some other creature to take its place. Nature preserves the strength of the race by constantly making it fight for survival.

FRENCH PROPOSAL TO MURDER FOREIGNERS QUICKLY KILLED

PARIS, Feb. 12. A boycott on all goods imported from countries with high exchange, which means principally American and English merchandise, is being pushed vigorously by the Matin in order to assist in saving the falling franc. However, other newspapers and public men are not joining very loudly in the chorus, for the French realize that tourists from high exchange countries are in fact what has helped to keep up exchange.

Several attempts to tax foreigners for living in France and suggestions that high exchange visitors be charged different prices to residents have been stifled. M. Loucheur in the Chamber recently caused the prompt withdrawal of a bill to charge foreigners 240 francs a year as residence tax, with the announcement that foreign money brought by tourists alone more than balanced France's commercial deficit, running between one and two billion francs. Government spokesmen immediately confirmed this statement.
